A. Multiple choices (8 Marks)

Choose the word (A, B, C or D) that best fits the numbered space in the following passage from the question 1 to 7:

As a young adult, Noah Webster was a teacher. At this time, the colonies were fighting (1) _____ independence from Britain. Yet the books that American children used in school all came from Britain. The books were all about British people and British places. Webster wanted books that would mean more to American children. (2) _____ he wrote three books that used American examples - a grammar book, a spelling book, and a reader. These (3) _____ were very popular, and millions of them were sold.

Webster was interested (4) _____ changing the (5) _____ of words. He wanted words (6) _____ the way they were pronounced. For example, he thought the word head should be spelled "hed", and the word laugh should be spelled "laf". People liked Webster's (7) _____. Unfortunately, though, few words were changed. One group of words that were changed were words in which an unpronounced u followed an o. That is why Americans write color and labor, and the British write colour and labour.
